

Remote Desktop Manager is Now Available in Japanese!

やあ!

REMOTE DESKTOP MANAGER IS TRUSTED BY MORE THAN 800,000
USERS IN OVER 140 COUNTRIES

---

Choushi wa dou desu ka?

If your response to this is “thanks for asking me how it’s going, everything is fine!” then we have some great news for you: the Japanese version of Remote Desktop Manager is now here!

Remote Desktop Manager is trusted by more than 800,000 users in over 140 countries, and to date has been 100% translated into four languages:

- English
- French
- Japanese
- Turkish

Several other translations are in-progress, including a few that are almost 100% complete:

- Chinese (Traditional, Taiwan) - 99% Chinese (Simplified) Legacy - 90%
- German - 94%
- Norwegian (Bokmål) - 82%
- Spanish - 79%
- Russian - 68%
- Dutch - 62%
- Portuguese (Brazil) - 62%
- Italian - 40%
- Ukrainian - 39%
- Polish - 33%
- Swedish - 23%
- Czech - 15%
- Hungarian - 9 %
- Danish - 8%
- Portuguese - 7%
- Slovak - 2%
- Slovenian - 2%
- Icelandic - 1%

Are You Multilingual?

---

If you understand any of the languages listed above — or if you want to take the lead on a new translation of Remote Desktop Manager — then we'd love your help! Here's what to do:

- Simply create an account at <https://devolutions.net/home/contribute>, download Devolutions Localizer, and start translating. Devolutions Localizer is our very own easy-to-use Remote Desktop Manager translator portal.
- Translate as much or as little as you want. Obviously, we'd be delighted if you turn into a translation wizard. But we're grateful for any help that you can provide — and so are your fellow IT pros around the world.

And if you are a most valuable contributor, we have some special prizes for you: $500 and a Remote Desktop Manager Enterprise Site License!

Thank you very much — or as they say in Japan: domo arigatou gozaimasu.

